GCR 567 Loco Group

A NEW BUILD VICTORIAN 4-4-0 EXPRESS LOCOMOTIVE

The GCR 567 Locomotive Group has been formed to construct a classic Victorian locomotive and once combined with the carriages of the GCR Rolling Stock Trust re-create a typical Edwardian train from the early years of the GCR London Extension to run on the modern Great Central Railway

Gorton Works, 1891

These elegant 4-4-0s were the pride of the MS&LR and then contributed towards the nascent Great Central Railway's slogan 'Rapid travel in Luxury'. Indeed the GCR's legendary first Chairman, Sir Edward Watkin, was so pleased with his class 2, it was immortalised as the locomotive which features in the company crest. While we'll incorporate some minor changes, the new 567 will be externally indistinguishable from its predecessors.

"We've learnt from the successful new build projects which have gone before and now we are ready to bring the class back to life for the benefit of future generations."

Already two major donor parts for the locomotive are in hand giving the project a huge head start. It's estimated it could be complete in ten years at a cost of around half a million pounds.

We now look for 567 supporters to fund the No 567 project at £5.67/month for an estimated 10 years.
